Hi vvv,

I enjoyed your presentation titled "Is a degree in Mathematics or Computer Science more valuable?" My initial guess was "computer science," so I was curious to see what you had discovered. Sometimes what people believe to be true is not supported by the data and analysis. Somehow, I think the real answer is that a degree in business is most valuable!

Your overall presentation was excellent. On your bar charts comparing salaries, it would have been better to compare the salaries side-by-side. It was good that you talked about "cleaning" data. You applied some of what you learned in this course in a very appropriate way. I enjoyed seeing your visualizations, including your Tableau visualizations. Did you ever think that you could make a great presentation in 6:40 minutes?

Your presentation was one day late, so I deducted 5 points. You earned 94 points for this presentation.

For the course, this puts you at 94.9 points overall, so your final grade is an "A". Great! I enjoyed having you as a student.

I would like to use your presentation as an example of an excellent presentation in future courses. Let me know if I have your permission to do this.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jerz
